DETAILED ACTION

Current Status

1. This action is responsive to applicants' amendment of 1 December 2006.
2. Claims 9-28 are pending in the application

Allowed Claims

Claims 9-28 are allowable over the prior art of record.

Reason For Allowance

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Applicants claim a process for obtaining a purified gas by removing polysulfanes from crude gas formed during the production of hydrogen sulfide, comprising: (a) passing said crude gas through a wash system where said crude gas is brought into contact with a wash solution comprising water or methanol; and (b) collecting said purified gas from the wash solution of step (a), wherein all the variables are as defined in the claims. The process was neither found to be obvious nor anticipated by the prior art of record.

The closest prior arts are Deutsche et al., {GB 1 268 842}. Deutsche et al. teach a process for working up the products in a process for the production of an alkyl mercaptan by reacting the corresponding primary alkyl alcohol with hydrogen sulfide under pressure in the presence of a catalyst, wherein the gas mixture accumulating after the reaction and consisting of hydrogen sulfide, unreacted alcohol, alkyl mercaptan, dialkyl sulfide, water, dialkyl ether and inert gases is separated in a separation column in the form of a packed column or plate column into volatile and non-volatile fractions under a pressure of at most 10 atmosphere and at a temperature of from 10 m 140°C, after which the entrained non-volatile fractions, primarily alkyl mercaptan and dialkyl sulfide, are washed out of the said volatile fractions by means of a washing agents (water and aliphatic alcohol) flowing in counter current to the said volatile fraction in the upper part of the separation column. See the claims on page 4.

Applicants process for purifying gas by removing polysulfanes from crude gas formed during the production of hydrogen sulfide differ from Deutsche et al. process in that applicants claim a process that employs water, methanol, aqueous solution or methanolic solution while Deutsche et al. teach a process for purifying alkyl mercaptan from the reacting of primary alkyl alcohol with hydrogen sulfide by removing hydrogen sulfide, unreacted alcohol, alkyl mercaptan, dialkyl sulfide, water, dialkyl ether and inert gases with water and alcohol. The difference is clear because applicants' claim a process that removes polysulfanes from crude gas. On the other hand, Deutsche et al. teach a process that removes hydrogen sulfide, unreacted alcohol, alkyl mercaptan, dialkyl sulfide, water, dialkyl ether and inert gases. This difference is not readily apparent and would not have been suggested to one of ordinary skill.

All claims (9-28) are allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance".
